GETTING STARTED: GENERAL ADVICE

FIND THE MOST SUITABLE AGENCY

Once you have identified the resources you need to digitise, preserve, and improve access to your records and collections, the next step is to identify the most suitable funding agency or agencies.

You will need to find out:

- The objectives of the agency's funding programme
- If they have a category that fits your needs, or whether you can align your needs to any of their categories
- What they will fund and what they won't fund
- How much they have provided for similar projects previously
- What the maximum grant can be
- The application requirements and process
- The application closing date.

GENEROSITY NEW ZEALAND

The Generosity New Zealand website has information about scholarships, grants, resource schemes and it connects businesses with community groups.

TE PAPA

Te Papa has released a resource guide with advice for applying for funding. While it is targeted more towards the museum sector, it has some information which may be useful for other organisations. It includes information about the application process as well as outlining some of the different grants and funding sources available.

Download a digital copy of the brochure.

PHILANTHROPISTS AND CORPORATE BUSINESSES

Are there people in your community with a strong interest in this collection that might consider donating or contributing to (or writing a funding application for) your cause?

Or is there someone in the news or media who has expressed a passion for similar collections or themes. No matter how famous they are, contact them directly, they can always say no! And you will be surprised at how supportive these people can be.

Even if they do not provide funding, they may be able to give you advice, or put you in touch with likeminded people and others who may be able to help. Remember that what you are doing is not for personal gain, but for the community good. Corporate business generally have money and a mandate to help communities. Find out when they make decisions on corporate gifting.

SUPPORT FOR NON-PROFIT & COMMUNITY GROUPS

Strategic Grants helps not-for-profit organisations establish sustainable, cost-effective grant-seeking strategies to deliver projects that fulfil their organisational missions.

LOCAL COUNCILS

Charities may qualify for funding from their council. Each local council has different criteria and different funds depending on the community. Check out the website of your local council to see if your charity is eligible for funding.

For example, Christchurch City Council has a Strengthening Communities Fund. Talk to your local Councillor for assistance in looking for Council funding. Remember, it is their job and they will want your votes!

COMMUNITY TRUSTS OF NEW ZEALAND

There is an expansive network of community trusts in each region of New Zealand. Community Trusts of New Zealand provide funding support that charities may be eligible for.

Have a look at the website of your local community trust to see what funding options are available:

Auckland and Northland

Waikato

Taranaki

Bay of Plenty

Eastern and Central Community Trust

Wellington Community Trust

Nelson, Marlborough, Canterbury and Chatham Islands

Buller, Grey, and Westland: West Coast Community Trust

10 TIPS ON GRANT APPLICATIONS

WHEN WRITING YOUR FUNDING APPLICATIONS:

1. Focus on the specific required outcomes of the fund more than on what you do. It is easy to be absorbed in your fabulous work and forget that funders need to see outcomes
2. Funding panels are inundated with applications, so they are looking at who to reject first. By focusing on the outcomes explicitly, you will likely make it through the first cuts
3. They are not likely to know what you do, so be clear and simple in your description, and avoid industry specific terms
4. Stick to the wordcounts and if there are no wordcounts, keep your application succinct and to the point. Funding panels have a lot to read, and you need to keep them engaged (and happy!)
5. Find strong letters of support and recommendations, and don't be afraid of asking 'important' people
6. Think about your points of difference to other organisations that may be working on similar projects, and link these differences to the specific outcomes of the fund
7. Make a point of talking directly to someone from the fund as they usually have a contact person. Ask them as many questions as possible on how you should present your application
8. Avoid any potentially contentious statements such as government cutbacks mean that your project now needs extra funding. Funders want nice news headlines!
9. Involve as many people as possible in the early application writing stage, but in the final few days have a single 'owner'. Don't make final decisions by committee
10. Re-read no. 1!

PLACES TO LOOK

THE FOLLOWING WEBSITES
ARE GOOD PLACES TO LOOK FOR INFORMATION ABOUT THE DIFFERENT FUNDING AGENCIES IN NEW ZEALAND AND THE GRANTS
THEY OFFER

THE MINISTRY FOR CULTURE AND HERITAGE

The Ministry for Culture and Heritage has great information about the funding sources available specifically for those within the GLAM sector (galleries, libraries, archives and museums) of New Zealand. Their “Apply for Funding” page allows you to search for specific grants to suit your project, organisation, and location.

Visit The Ministry for Culture and Heritage’s “Apply for Funding” page for more information.

GENEROSITY NEW ZEALAND

Generosity New Zealand replaced Funding Information Services. See their website which includes the givUS section which offers access to more than 1,200 grants and schemes for communities, volunteer organisations, schools, groups, sport clubs, and Iwi.

Find assistance for nearly everything, including operational costs, building redevelopment, and project-based resources.

CHARITIES COMMISSION

If you are not a registered charity then think about approaching them for funding, or alternatively, working on a joint funding application. The Charities Commission has a searchable database of all the Charities in New Zealand. You can use the Charities Register to look for charities to fund or work with your initiative or activity.

Visit the Charities Register to find out more.

COMMUNITY MATTERS

Community Matters is a government platform for funding applications from a variety of different organisations whose funds are administered by the DIA.

CREATIVE NZ

Creative NZ supports the arts throughout New Zealand. Visit their website to see if you or your organisation are eligible to apply for funding.

CROWDFUNDING

Another form of funding you could consider is crowdfunding. If you have an idea for a project but need financial support, crowdfunding can be a good way to gather that support with small donations from a large number of people via the internet. You simply put your project on a crowdfunding platform, and rally your local community and others to get together to each contribute a little towards its success.

While there are many crowdfunding platforms available, we suggest you do some research to find the one that would best suit your project.

Some New Zealand Platforms:

- Givealittle
- Pledgeme

Overseas based, but will take New Zealand projects:

- Kick Starter
- JustGiving
- Indiegogo
- Go Fund Me
